RUSSIA HAS WITHDRAWN

Legation and Greater Part of the Troops Have Left Peking.

COMMENTS ON THE EDICTS

Various Opinions Are Expressed By English Correspondents as to Importance of Chinese Measures.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 30.—The following dispatch dated Peking, Sept. 27, has been received from M. De Giers, Russian minister to China:

"In accordance with orders from the highest quarters, I am leaving for Tien-tsin with the whole legation."

(Copyright, 1900, the Associated Press.)

Peking, Sept. 25.—via Ta-ku, Sept. 28, via Shang-hai, Sept. 30.—At the conference of generals today the Russian commander, General Linovitch, announced the immediate withdrawal from Peking of the bulk of the Russian troops and the legation. He will leave on Thursday, Sept. 27, and the legation will follow on Saturday. There will remain a mixed force of about 2,000 to represent Russia.

General Linovitch asserted that the dispatch from St. Petersburg transmitting the order to withdraw contained a statement that all the powers were adopting the same policy. The other generals replied that they had received no orders of that nature.

German and Japanese columns are operating to the southward, near the imperial deer park.

Sir Alfred Gazelee, the British commander, has gone to Tien-tsin to inspect the British troops there.

Friction between the British and Russians over the railway continues, each party seizing and guarding small sections. The repairing is unsystematic, and the completion of the work very indefinite.

British Comments.

London, Oct. 1.—[illegible] a number of imperial edicts which throw into still worse confusion the complicated Chinese situation there is little in today's news to arrest attention. From Shang-hai comes the unconfirmed reports that the allies have seized Shan-hai-kwan. All the news with regard to the edicts emanates from Shang-hai. According to the advices, in addition to the edicts ordering Grand Councillor Kun Kang to offer oblations before the coffin of Baron Von Ketteler and the edict directing that Li Hung Chang's entire plan be followed in regard to the punishment of the princes and high ministers of state responsible for the anti-foreign outrages and the decree ordering that funeral honors be paid in Peking and Tokio to remains of Sugiyama Amdra, the murdered chancellor of the Japanese legation, Emperor Kwang Su has addressed further letters to the czar and the mikado, renewing his request for their aid in the peace negotiations.

Various opinions are expressed as to the importance of the edicts. The Shang-hai correspondent of the Morning Post, says:

"The severe punishment ordered by Emperor Kwang Su will only mean a money fine. There are traces of Li Hung Chang's hand, under American influence in the edicts."

On the other hand the Standard's Shang-hai correspondent remarks:

"The empress now realizes the true nature of the crisis. After consulting the emperor she summoned the court dignitaries and on their assembling, through which she remained silent, the emperor in a loud voice delivered a tirade lasting a couple of hours against the courtiers. Then, in an angry voice, he dismissed them. After this the decrees were issued. While these have been promulgating feverish war preparations are still reported from Shang-hai and new appointments have been made to the Chinese army and navy."

"The Chinese official Gazette has resumed publication," says the Peking correspondent of the Morning Post, wiring Sept. 24, "and contains an order directing the Peking officials to follow the court unless their duties here prevent them leaving."

AMERICAN PREPARATIONS TO WITHDRAW FROM PEKING

(Copyright, the Associated Press.)

Tien-tsin, Sept. 28.—via Shang-hai, Sept. 30.—[illegible] from Washington directing the withdrawal of the bulk of the American troops, were received this afternoon and preparations to comply were begun at once. General Chaffee is here directing the movement, which will commence at the earliest possible moment.

It is understood the plan contemplates leaving a regiment of infantry, a squadron of cavalry and a battery of artillery in Peking to protect American interests and the remainder of the troops will [illegible] to Manila.

The allied commanders had decided to dispatch a combined land and naval expedition to Shan-hai-kwan, on the Gulf of Liao-tung, leaving Ta-ku, October 1, the land force being 2,200. The American detail had not yet been made nor had a decision been reached as to the naval force. Now that the order to withdraw has been received from Washington it is possible that the plans for the expedition will have to be modified, so far as American participation is concerned. General Chaffee, however, is proceeding on the opposite assumption, and has ordered the Fifth Marine battalion to prepare to go.

The United States armored cruiser Brooklyn will probably be the only American warship in the expedition. The troops will go by water and be landed south of Shan-hai-kwan. They will co-operate with a large Russian contingent already on the way.

The news of the American withdrawal created a sensation among the representatives of the other powers here.

A SANTA FE EXPRESS WRECKED IN OKLAHOMA

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 30.—The Santa Fe through express for Kansas City was wrecked [illegible] miles south of here this afternoon by spreading rails and the baggage and express cars derailed, the smoker thrown off and turned upside down and the day coaches partly derailed. Two people were killed and a dozen or more injured, all passengers in the smoker.

James Vander[illegible], grandfather of the boy, arm broken.

R. Artman, of Ray County, Mo., badly bruised.

George H. Willis, Guthrie, ear almost cut off by glass.

Edward H. Cook, president of First National bank, Oklahoma City, badly cut about head.

There were about 30 passengers in this coach and all were hurled together in the roof of the car. Thomas Mayer was hurled into a lamp frame and his skull crushed, killing him instantly.

Edmund Roe was crushed and died in a few moments. C. T. Smith of Galveston, one of the injured passengers, lost everything he had in the Galveston storm and was on his way north for a new start in life.

ANNUAL REPORTS FROM NAVAL BUREAU CHIEFS

Washington, Sept. 30.—In anticipation of the assembling of congress two months hence, October 1 has been set as the time for receiving the annual reports from the naval bureau chiefs, covering the naval work to be done during the coming year.

Most of the estimates are now completed and in the hands of Secretary Long and the more detailed reports will go in within the next few days.

Until they have been gone over by the secretary no authentic details are available. In the main, however, they are understood to involve little in the way of extensive or new projects and to cover only the usual requisites of the service for the year.

The chief item, as usual, is that for "the increase of the navy," covering both construction and engineering work on ships already authorized. This will be in the neighborhood of $20,000,000. In the branch of yards and docks it is understood the total will not be far from $13,000,000 and will not involve any additional dry docks or extensive changes in our naval stations.

In addition to the foregoing item for increase of the navy there is the usual sum for repair of vessels already in service which is a considerable sum, amounting this year to approximately $7,000,000. In the branch of steam engineering the estimates do not go beyond the requirements for carrying forward the regular service.

The item of armor and armament is of special interest in view of the controversy over armor, but the future course regarding this probably will depend considerably on the result of the present efforts to get armor within the rate fixed by the last congress.

NAVAL INTELLIGENCE.

Annual Report Covers Many Topics of Interest.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The naval annual report published by the office of the naval intelligence contains among other things, an interesting report by Lieut. W. L. Howard, summarizing compactly the increase of naval strength during the past year by the great maritime powers.

A topical article of value is contributed by Lieut. L. R. De Steiguer on the subject of wireless telegraphy. This recites just what each of the naval powers has done toward the utilization of Marconi's discovery and embodies a thorough review of the state of the art of long distance wireless transmission by a competent German authority. In general it appears that the experiments have resulted satisfactorily and the British army in South Africa, by the use of kites for the aerial wires, have managed to transmit messages a distance of 85 miles, or more than 10 miles further than the distance which separates Tien-tsin from Peking, which still proves to be impracticable for ordinary telegraph methods.

There is also an illustrated description of the fastest vessel in the world, the famous turbine torpedo boat Viper which runs over 34 knots an hour with ease.

THE POPE'S VIGOR.

Rome, Sept. 30.—During the beatification of Antoinez Franzi, one of the chiefs of the Order of Oratorians at St. Peter's cathedral, this afternoon the pope venerated the effigy of the new saint in the presence of thousands. His holiness displayed remarkable vigor. Ordinarily he is aided in his movements, but on this occasion he raised himself from the place of kneeling, made a gesture refusing assistance, walked with a firm step to the altar, and ultimately returned to his seat without assistance.

ROOSEVELT WILL SPEND FOUR DAYS IN NEBRASKA

Kansas City, Sept. 30.—A quiet day was passed by the Roosevelt party at the Midland hotel. Gov. Roosevelt had intended to attend the Dutch Reform church in this city this morning, but found that church closed temporarily on account of the absence of the pastor. Thereupon he accepted an invitation to attend services at Westminster Presbyterian church, Rev. W. P. George, pastor. On his return he expressed great satisfaction at the sermon he had heard. During the afternoon he was driven to the Country club, where he mounted a horse and took a gallop alone through the country roads.

At 1 o'clock he met the newspaper men of his party at the hotel and immediately went to dinner with United States Senator Beveridge of Indiana. In the afternoon he was entertained at the home of W. In an interview Senator Hanna said he was pleased with the outlook in New York, where things were looking better than a month ago.

Referring to his recent interview in this city in which he was quoted as saying Mr. Bryan had promised to let Richard Croker name one of the men for the cabinet if elected, Senator Hanna said:

"I have never denied that interview. In fact what I said about Croker and a cabinet position has been substantiated during the past week. I knew what I was talking about when I said that Bryan had promised Croker the naming of one of the cabinet officers. I know that Bryan has promised to let Croker distribute the federal patronage in New York and if Bryan is elected Croker can put former Senator Edward Murphy in Bryan's cabinet."

SHIPWRECKED SEAMEN.

Rescued from the British Ship Nonpareil and Brought to New York.

New York, Sept. 30.—The British tramp steamer Glengoil, which arrived from Alexandria, Egypt, and other ports in the Mediterranean, brought into port 29 shipwrecked seamen, taken from the British ship Nonpareil on Sept. 22. Their vessel foundered shortly after they abandoned her in latitude 39.50, longitude 42.

The Nonpareil sailed from New York Sept. 10, bound for Soura Baya, Java, with a cargo of case oil. Two days after leaving Sandy Hook a strong southwest gale sprang up and soon increased in force and hauled to west-southwest and assumed the proportions of a hurricane. The storm continued with varying violence until Sept. 22, when the ship was lying at an angle of 40 degrees and the crew were in constant danger of being washed overboard. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the smoke of the Glengoil was sighted. She hove to and sent a boat and took off part of the men, the injured being sent first. All had to jump overboard and were hauled into boat by a rope.

F. George, one of the boat's crew, was washed overboard and lost. The Nonpareil, from Leith, Scotland, was 1,070 tons register, and was owned by the Standard Oil company. She was a new vessel.

A special dispatch from Berlin asserting a belief there that the United States was about to issue a note on the question of the partition of China was repudiated in an authoritative quarter. It was stated that not only is there no note about to be issued respecting the matter of the partition of China but that there is no note whatever regarding Chinese policy now in process of formation by this government. The views of this government calling for preservation of the entity of the Chinese government were clearly set forth in the note of June, and subsequent communications that have been made public.

No further light has been thrown on the course to be pursued by the Chinese government toward the ringleaders of the trouble.

It was beginning to be recognized that something was needed to give strength to the Unionist campaign. Accordingly semi-official announcements are out that George Wyndham, parliamentary under secretary of state for war, in his speech at Derby tomorrow will outline the government's scheme of army reforms, and that the war office is arranging with Lord Roberts for the return of a large portion of the army in South Africa.

DIED IN THE PULPIT.

Rev. Dr. [illegible]bert H. Gregory Expired In Presence of Congregation.

New York, Sept. 30.—Rev. Dr. Gilbert H. Gregory, 63 years old, died today in the presence of his congregation at the morning service in St. Stephen's M. E. church, Marble Hill, at the north end of Manhattan Island.

Physicians had urged Dr. Gregory to retire from active work as he had long been a sufferer from heart trouble. They told him that he might live for years if he would cease labor but if he continued to work he was liable to be stricken at any moment.

Dr. Gregory had not preached in St. Stephen's for three Sundays on account of heart attack but when word was passed around that he would resume his duties today the church was filled.

The service had progressed to the singing of a hymn, which precedes the sermon. Dr. Gregory arose and read three verses of the hymn beginning "Love divine, all love excelling."

While the music of the anthem filled the church Dr. Gergory was noticed to seat himself and then fall limp over one arm of the chair. Members of the congregation went to his assistance, and two physicians who happened to be passing the church were called in. They saw at once that the minister was beyond human aid and in five minutes from the time he was stricken Dr. Gregory was dead.

SUMMER PALACE LOOTED.

London, Oct. 1.—Dr. Morrison, wiring to the Times from Peking, on Sept. 24, says:

"At the same moment the Chinese offered to permit the British to occupy without opposition both Shan-hai-kwan and Tong-schan, they also made overtures to the British to occupy Pei-tain. Although it was known that these overtures were supported by the British authorities in Peking they were discountenanced by Rear Admiral Bruce on the ground that they would disturb the council of admirals.

"Systematic Russian denudation of the summer palace has resulted in stripping it of every valuable article. The loot has been packed and labeled and is now awaiting transportation to Russia.

"In the second attempt the white pagoda and two adjoining temples were razed to the ground."

Wang Wen Shao, president of the board of revenue, who accompanied the emperor and empress regent in their flight from Peking, says in a letter received here that their majesties suffered great hardships, having scarcely any food for three days. As the country through which they traveled was devastated by Tung Fu Siang's troops they were unable to obtain even necessaries and they saved no valuables.

AN OFFER OF AN INCREASE

A Ten Per Cent Advance in Wages Agreed to by Coal Operators.

HOPE OF SETTLEMENT SOON

Plan Has Been Devised Whereby the Union May Decide Terms Although Unrecognized.

Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—An offer of an increase of 10 per cent in miners' wages was today made by the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Co., and this move, it is stated, will be followed on Tuesday by similar notices at every colliery in the anthracite region.

It is expected by the operators that this increase in wages will be satisfactory to the men and they believe many strikers will take advantage of the offer and return to work. Mining operators will in this event be given an impetus and the operators expect that soon the collieries will have their full complement of employes. The Philadelphia & Reading company operates 39 collieries and of these 2[illegible] have been shut down owing to insufficient working force.

Whether the miners will accept the proffer of the company and return in sufficient numbers to operate the mines cannot be foretold tonight. Reports received from several points in the Schuylkill region, where the Reading collieries are located indicate that the mine workers will follow the instructions of their organization officials and remain away.

President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, received no notice of the intention of the operators to offer the increase in wages and the intimation is thus given that the miners' organization will receive no recognition from the operators.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 30.—At every colliery in the anthracite region a notice will be posted Tuesday [illegible] announcing a 10 per cent increase in wages based on the present scale and that the operators will arbitrate any grievances their employes may present. There is no condition to be attached as to the men returning to work before the arbitration will begin, so it is to be inferred that the men are privileged to meet in convention and [illegible] plan of action they may deem advisable before entering [illegible]

It is supposed the miners will [illegible] together as members of the union [illegible] the minimum of the conditions [illegible] will be content with and then [illegible] as individuals to treat with their employers through committees [illegible] ployes. The arbitration [illegible] cluded satisfactorily, if they [illegible] the committees of employes [illegible] back to the convention of U[illegible] Workers that they have [illegible] settlement and the strike will [illegible] declared off. This would [illegible] recognition of the union by [illegible] ators and at [illegible] union to regulate the [illegible] of [illegible] ment.

COAL MINERS NOTIFIED OF ADVANCE IN WAGES

Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—The following notice bearing date of Oct. 1 was posted today in the vicinity of all the collieries of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company in the anthracite region:

"Philadelphia and Reading Coal Co., Oct. 1, 1900.

"This company will pay an advance of 10 per cent on the wages of all men and boys employed at its collieries. This advance takes effect today.

"R. C. Luther,

Beneath this notice another was posted which read as follows:

"Fellow Mine Workers, United Mine Workers of America:

"Do not pay any attention to this notice posted by Mr. Luther of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company, but wait until you hear from President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America or until you have decided by your own locals what is right for you to do. C. B. Potter."

MANY STRIKERS HAVE TAKEN TEMPERANCE PLEDGE

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 30.—The mine superintendents who attended the conference in this city last night declined to say anything further today as to the proceedings.

The day was very quiet at headquarters. The leaders stayed at home. Those who visited the meeting place say they heard nothing from the national executive officers about the holding of a convention of miners in this city to pass upon a new scale of wages which the operators may submit. President Mitchell will visit Wilkesbarre on Tuesday and an elaborate programme has been prepared for his reception. The mass meeting will be held at West Side park and Mitchell will be the principal [illegible]

ORGANIZERS WARN STRIKERS AGAINST RESUMING WORK

Shenandoah, Pa., Sept. 30.—The notices of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Eric Iron Co. offering the miners an increase of 10 per cent. in wages were today posted in this town, at Mahanoy City and other places. Upon reading the notice Organizer Harris, whose headquarters are at Mahanoy City issued instructions to the presidents of local branches of the United Mine Workers to warn the strikers against returning to work until so ordered by the officials of the union. Placards were accordingly tacked up throughout the district notifying the mine workers to remain from the collieries until President Mitchell should order them to work or until the local branches of the union should take concerted action. Mr. Harris said the Reading company's proposition was not acceptable as the men insist on the abolition of the sliding scale, i. e., the $2.50 basis. They also demand a guarantee that the increase in wages shall be permanent.

Gen. Gobin today ordered the Twelfth regiment, and the [illegible] will [illegible] 8 o'clock [illegible] stated since the English [illegible] branch of the United Mine [illegible] was organized here last week, [illegible] tional members have [illegible]

FRENCH SOCIALISTS HAD LIVELY SESSION IN PAR

Paris, Sept. 30.—The stormy and sometimes amusing proceeding of the congress of French socialists culminated at this morning's session in uproar and general confusion. The congress first met two days ago at the conclusion of the international congress of socialists, and the meeting had devoted to interminable discussions on the subject of the constitution of the congress, the Guesdists, Blanquists and Communists, who were in alliance, reproaching the independents with having violated the constitution by wrongful vote. This charge served as an excuse for introducing an sort of side questions, provocative of heated arguments which soon developed into threats and abuse. This morning it was evident that the delegates had [illegible] little over night. They were [illegible]

THE SITUATION AT GALVESTON

Summary of Conditions by a Gazette Correspondent.

WHY CASH IS NEEDED NOW

Necessity of Hiring as Many Men as Possible to Clear the Streets in the Quickest Time

(Special Correspondence)

Galveston Tex Sept 26—"We feel very grateful to the people of Colorado Springs for the good will shown us and their very generous contributions for our assistance" says Mr W A McVitie chairman of the general relief committee "For a city of its size and [illegible] I consider the amount contributed very handsome We shall always remember their generosity at this time"

Ever since the flood Mr McVitie has been more than busy Dispatches sent from day to day have detailed conditions here so I shall not repeat that story Of the present situation and future work however some information will not be amiss

"We have completed a house to house canvass of the city" said Mr McVitie "to ascertain who are in need of continued assistance. With the great amount of work to be done here and the ready payment of wages there is no necessity for feeding people free when there is an able-bodied man around the house to earn a living. So we will hereafter furnish no supplies to families where there is a man able to work This decision was necessary because we found a number of men who would not work so long as they or the women of the house could get supplies free But the helpless sick and injured will receive all the aid and comfort they need

"You probably know that about 2 000 men will be at work for some time cleaning the city We do not know how much that will cost nor how much money we will have left after it is done so of course we cannot make any plans as to how the surplus if any remains will be distributed The present work gives us all we can think about now The future will have to take care of itself"

That sizes up the situation If Colorado Springs people will just imagine a tract of level land about twice as long as their own city and about a mile wide covered with wreckage here and there a house standing they can form a conception of the situation In the business section the brick and stone structures are generally standing more or less damaged Frame buildings are in all stages of demolition Along the beach of the gulf every residence lot is swept bare For several blocks inland this condition prevails and then come a few houses able to stand alone These are flanked by wreckage Houses in whole or part are tossed around promiscuously across lots and on the streets and alleys In the ruins are still to be found dead bodies At present and for some time the work in hand for the 2 000 men is to take apart these piles of wreckage dispose of the bodies place the lumber in piles on vacant lots or the streets Then owners can pick out identify and claim the fragments of their domiciles After that is done it is supposed the poorer people will be given a chance to build houses from such lumber as they can get from the piles

Were it not for the fact that a great many houses are still standing the better plan would be to fire the whole bunch and thus speedily and economically clear the ground But owners of homes protest and the authorities seem to appreciate their desire to save what little is left

The most peculiar feature of the business is that the city administration is practically a nonentity in managing the cleaning and reconstruction All the funds for the work are in the hands of the citizens committee True the mayor is a member of that committee but the regular officials have practically nothing to say This is because the city is financially embarrassed Under the law the municipality cannot incur more than $100 000 indebtedness That sum wouldn't make a decent beginning in the work of renovation To pay the force now at work requires at least $5 000 a day and as soon as more men can be secured it will cost a greater sum Several months must elapse before the debris can be cleared away and so the general committee will manage the whole thing At first it was proposed to let the job by contract One firm agreed to hire men at $2 a day with higher pay for foremen and teamsters and then charge 10 per cent of the gross wage bill for their services in bossing the job This contract was actually signed up when a big howl was raised It was pointed out that charges could be made for 2 000 men working when really less were employed and then the contractors would not only gather in the difference but 10 per cent besides on the whole amount In consequence the contract was abrogated and Mr Jens Moller elected by the committee to take entire charge A wage schedule was arranged a civil engineer employed to supervise plans and superintendents appointed, and now the work is proceeding on that basis satisfactorily The men are paid off every Sunday morning

Horrors of the First Four Days.

In conversation with the survivors much has been learned of the awful conditions prevalent from Sunday night to Thursday morning after the storm. Everybody was dazed Organization for relief had to be hastily effected, and while this hasty effort was being made the lawless element held high carnival Stores residences and other places were broken into and anything which had escaped damage was booty for looters As soon as a semblance of organization was made the order went out to kill these ghouls on sight How many were thus disposed of will never be known They were shot without mercy their carcasses thrown into wagons along with the bodies of flood victims and all disposed of either by hasty burial, fire or dumping into the gulf

Corpses would be loaded into wagons indiscriminately clothed, partly naked and entirely nude Arms legs heads would protrude from the loads in every position They were handled like so much cord wood During the first day or two when such a ghastly load would pass a group there would be whispered comment and sidelong glances at the sight In a day or two this feeling of horror wore off and the passage of a wagon-load of bodies excited no comment It was the general traffic of the city Now all that is over The bodies are burned as soon as found and unless one goes to the places where the clearing work is progressing there is nothing to shock the senses other than the desolation of ruined buildings But the experiences of those days have left a permanent impress on the countenances of Galveston people In 1883 when Colorado was paralyzed by the panic and bank failures the people acquired a mournful broken-down cast of countenance that in some instances has remained permanent. In Galveston that same thing has happened Mirth hope and buoyancy seem to have deserted the city

475 Babies Born in the Storm

During the rage of the hurricane the number of births was startling I was talking with a woman who had charge of the distribution of infants wear at the general relief headquarters

"It is hard to believe but I have learned that 475 babies were born during that terrible night" said she "Here at these headquarters we did what we could to supply the little ones From Sunday night until Thursday morning we had no outside assistance All the clothing and food we had during that time was what we could find in our ruined city The ladies took hold with a will and made up garments as hastily as possible and I gave them out to all who applied We couldn't stop then for investigation as to merits in any case All were in need and desperate need People who had never known want were compelled to come to us for clothes for themselves and little ones We gave all we had and could have used more

"When goods began to arrive we found most of them were second hand These had to be washed before they could be used but the people were more than glad to get them How many of the new born infants survived I have not been able to learn There were none of the things on hand so needful at such times so I am afraid many of them perished."

Work of Organizations

Every secret society and labor organization took up the work of relief as well as the general committee The Masons Odd Fellows Knights of Pythias Confederate Veterans and Sons of Veterans established headquarters had committees out searching for members or survivors of their families They are still at work and will continue The Galveston printers received about $3 000 from the various unions of the country among the contributions being $50 from Colorado Springs union and $25 from Pueblo Although the Colorado Springs donation was the first made it was not received until Tuesday of this week owing to an error made in transmission

All the organizations have made great efforts to send members and their families out of town Lack of house accommodations and difficulty in getting food together with gloomy prospects compelled this action Consequently the male population of the city now is largely in the majority while the number of children is proportionately decreased

Hit Hard by the Hurricane

Of course all classes have suffered losses in one way or another Some have lost members of their families as well as property while more have merely lost their accumulations from hard work Those who suffered only partial disaster are hopeful while the unfortunate who have nothing left to show for their years of work are utterly discouraged Said one of these

"I have not a bit of ambition left [illegible] I managed [illegible] my family but that was all I worked hard here for 10 years saved and had a little home [illegible] paid for In less than an hour the result of all this work [illegible] utterly destroyed It wouldn't [illegible] had all be paid for but [illegible] leaves me in debt with no [illegible] to show for what I owe Even the ground my house was built on was [illegible] away"

Instances of this sort could be multiplied indefinitely The large building and loan associations will suffer tremendously for the houses which they had assisted to build and on which they held mortgages are now wrecked and as a rule no insurance will be forthcoming

Reconstruction Work

A strong effort is being made to bolster up the courage of the people and induce them to start in again To a large extent this effort is successful It will be invalidated in a measure by landlords of the city who have begun raising the rents on the remaining houses Provisions are not increasing in price to any great extent but just now such things as clothing and dry [illegible] The newspapers here denounce the policy of extortion demand that laborers shall not ask for higher wages that merchants stick to their old schedules and in general that a policy of universal co operation be maintained for the benefit of all But the chase for the almighty dollar is lively and for a time at least those who can will exact the highest possible prices for what they have for sale Their prosperity will not last long for the outside world will speedily send in new things at lower prices and then normal conditions will again prevail

Why Cash Is Needed

It has probably been noted that they are asking for money only for this city now This is because as stated above, the general committee wants to hire as great a force as possible to clear the streets in the quickest time Laborers must be paid for the work The city has no money and the committee will have entire charge of whatever is sent. As the gentlemen composing the committee are all of solid commercial standing their administration of affairs will naturally be superior to that of men selected in the ordinary course of municipal politics Such is the admission of a member of the board of aldermen who said right out in meeting that he didn't consider himself and associates competent to deal with the existing emergency He has even favored the plan of the whole city force from the mayor down resigning and placing affairs of the municipality in the hands of a receiver as the best method of restoring order and ultimately placing Galveston on a sound basis His plan has not yet been adopted Whatever money comes in will be used for the benefit of the whole city Wages will be paid only to those doing the actual work, as the general committeemen are giving their services without any hope or expectation of pay [illegible]

Help Needed

Outside of the city the [illegible] great need for cloth[illegible] there is [illegible] good supplies Although men have been appointed to supervise the relief of certain sections there is necessity for emergency work yet Only yesterday applications were made for assistance from certain localities and were refused because the applicants came from places outside of the district of the person in charge Such cases were deserving as any which have already received attention They should be attended to by a special emergency station where red tape has been lost

It has been an utter impossibility to trace supplies sent from any one section All that could be done at the headquarters was to open the boxes as fast as received sort out the goods and pass them on to the naked and hungry people Such a distribution was a picnic for the professional paupers All they had to do was to ask and receive This they did early and often One family obtained as many as 14 pairs of shoes and other goods in like proportion Others more deserving but more modest could hardly secure enough to make themselves comfortable Many a man and woman had to appear wearing only one tattered garment One prominent citizen had to go to bed while his wife washed out his only remaining suit of under clothes When it is remembered that Galveston is a hot moist place the suffering to be endured by wearing filthy clothes by clean people can be [illegible] appreciated

Even the Red Cross people, finely organized and equipped could not conduct affairs in any better shape than the hastily organized stations of the local people Hereafter the local stations will be abolished the results of the house to house canvass will be turned over to the Red Cross and that organization will have entire charge of the relief work here from now on

Who are Wanted Here

This winter there will be an abundance of employment at good wages for unskilled labor and men in the building trades. Rebuilding has begun and will be carried on with vigor In other lines business is bound to be very dull Men who are willing to work and endure rather hard conditions as compared with ordinary city life will find this a good place

Because of the fact that the men will predominate here for a good while the question of maintaining order will be a hard one to deal with A good start has been made and the lawless element is very well under control The saloon keepers have been given to understand that drunkenness will not be tolerated so they are very careful as to the conduct of their business They realize that in order to keep their places open they must use great care so not much drunkenness is seen

Business Men Pulling Together

Probably nothing in the world could have unified the efforts of Galveston's business men as did this disaster They realize that united action on their part can alone serve to restore Galveston Firms that had not patronized the daily newspapers for years are now bringing in their advertisements to show their appreciation of the newspaper efforts to restore the city In their meetings they express a willingness to help in every way forgetting past differences and jealousies Their spirit is highly commendable

Building Laws Needed

Not only in Galveston but all through Texas towns a very shiftless plan has been followed in building Blocks of wood several feet high were the only foundations used for houses If Galveston is to be rebuilt in a good and substantial manner this feature, which is only one of their weaknesses will have to be remedied The building ordinances should be made more stringent at once or a lot of unsubstantial structures such as were tossed about in the storm will be put up and the city be no better off than before This subject is being earnestly discussed here and radical action is anticipated

LONDON STOCK MARKET.

London Sept 30—The stock exchange is still awaiting a revival of business no signs of which are yet to be observed The influences that are delaying the usual autumn spurt in addition to the Chinese difficulty the presidential election in the United States the parliamentary general election here and the money position now include persistent continental realizations

On the whole prices lost ground during the week Consols closing ½ lower Americans were depressed earlier in the week owing to the Pennsylvania strike They experienced a sharp rally on the rumor that a 10 per cent increase in wages would be offered but although most lines finished better on the week a relapse occurred yesterday owing to German selling Northern Pacific fell 1¼ points Denver and Rio Grande preferred ¾ Chicago, Milwaukee and St Paul ¾ Southern Pacific ⅝ Atchison ½ Baltimore and Ohio ½ Illinois Central, ½ and Southern preferred ½

THE MINOR PARTIES.

THERE are said to be ten, or twelve, or eleven, presidential tickets in the field. The exact number varies from day to day. Of these, two alone have any chance of success, and the next president of the United States will undoubtedly be William McKinley, the Republican, or William Bryan, the Democrat, with the chances at present about 3 to 1 in favor of the former.

Of the remaining parties there are three which have a fair claim to attention as minor political organizations, and which are likely to have a sufficient number of votes to be considered in making up the result. Possibly they might have enough to affect the result, although it is quite out of the question that any one of them should secure an electoral vote in any state. The three parties referred to are the Middle of the Road or non-fusion Populists, the Prohibitionists and the Social Democrats, their candidates being respectively Wharton Barker, John G. Woolley and E. V. Debs.

The strength of the mid-road Populists is entirely a matter of guess work, and it is an open question whether they will cast enough votes to make any difference with the result in any state. It is true beyond any question that this branch of the Populist party is the only one that has remained true to the Populist principles as originally set forth in the Omaha platform, and it is the only one that offers any hope for the future of Populism in the United States. The fusion Populists exist only as assistant Democrats and in accepting the nominations of Bryan and Stevenson they renounced independent political existence. If the mid-road Populists do not make a showing this year sufficient to warrant the maintenance of a party organization, the party becomes practically extinct.

The total vote of the Prohibitionist party in 1896 was 131,757, which was only 1,100 less than that for the National (gold) Democrat candidates. Votes were cast for this ticket in all the states except Louisiana, Nevada, South Carolina and Utah, the number varying from 19,274 in Pennsylvania to 91 in Montana. It is notable, however, that the Prohibition vote in 1896 was only about one-half what it was in 1892 when the party cast 264,133 votes in the nation, including more than 25,000 votes each from Illinois, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania. In eight states in 1892 the Prohibition vote was larger than the plurality given to the successful candidate, these states being California, Delaware, Indiana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon and Wisconsin. In 1896 the Prohibitionists held the balance of power only in two states, Kentucky and South Dakota. It is almost certain that in 1900 the Prohibitionist vote will be larger than it was in 1896, and possibly as large as it was in 1892. The effect of this vote in close states is worth considering, and we believe that the increase of the Prohibitionist vote is likely to be detrimental to Mr. Bryan rather than to the Republican candidate.

The Social Labor party in 1896 cast 36,258 votes from 20 states, and in 1892, 21,000 from five states. In no instance has the Socialist vote been greater than the plurality for the successful party. In the present year the Socialists have added greatly to their prestige by nominating the best known radical agitator in the United States, Eugene V. Debs, who was the leader of the Socialist forces at the time of the great railroad riot in 1895. Mr. Debs himself has said that he expects to get 100,000 votes, and it is not unlikely that he will receive more than one-half that number. But even in that event the Socialist vote could hardly influence the result, the four states with the largest vote in 1896 being: New York, 17,667; New Jersey, 3,985; Massachusetts, 2,114; Pennsylvania, 1,683.

In considering these three minor parties it is worth while to notice that the entire vote of the mid-road Populists and also whatever increase is secured by the Socialists, will be taken from Mr. Bryan's vote of 1896 and none of it from Mr. McKinley's. The effect of an increase in the Prohibition vote would also, we believe, be detrimental to the Democrats rather than to the Republicans.

It may be that the vote of the minor parties will not influence the result in any state, but it is certain that an examination of their condition would indicate that Mr. Bryan's chances of success are less than they were four years ago.

THE PARTY THAT DARES AND THE PARTY THAT IS AFRAID.

THE Republican party faces the national situation with courage and hope. It is not blind to danger, present and to come, but it has a calm faith in the American people and in their ability to meet and to overcome new problems as they have met and overcome the old.

It is the party that dares.

The Democratic party is the party of doubt, discouragement and despair. For it the pillars of the republic are always shaking. It has no confidence either in itself or in others. It believes that the American people have neither the courage nor the honesty to defend their own liberties and it shrinks from new duties lest they result in failure.

It is the party of fear.

Which party is most truly representative of the spirit of the American people?

To which should be entrusted the management of our national affairs and the direction of our national progress?

The questions bear their own answer.

The American people are a people that dare.

The American people have not been, are not and will not be a people of fear.

The Republican party through its national platform is pledged to national aid for irrigation, and Colorado needs two Republican congressmen to help the party keep its promise.

The Democracy thinks too much of the trust issue to want to destroy the trusts.

It proposed to ask the consent of the governed b[illegible] authorizing congress to suppress them by a const[illegible] amendment.

THE PUEBLO STREET FAIR.

THIS will be carnival week in Pueblo, and for four days, beginning on Wednesday, the city will be occupied with the pleasant task of entertainment for its own citizens and the numerous guests who will be certain to be in attendance.

The main feature will be the street fair, for which special preparations have been made and which will undoubtedly be the most successful event of the kind ever undertaken in this state. Besides this, special attractions have been arranged for each day, including an Elks' circus, a tug-of-war, band concerts, live stock exhibits, and other attractions.

On behalf of the committee the Chieftain extends a general welcome and invitation to all the people of the state as follows:

"Only two more days before Pueblo will open her doors and arms to thousands of visitors from throughout Colorado and bid them welcome to the finest street fair that money, energy and ingenuity can devise. For four days there will be one continual round of fun of the clean, wholesome kind that will amuse all while it gives offense to none. Variety enough has been secured in the attractions to cater to every sort of taste, and there will be enough going on to satisfy the insatiable amusement appetite of even the small boys. And the beauty of it all is that it differs from the Paris exposition in only one respect—it is not a case of hold-up. Most of the show will be as free as the balmy atmosphere that the weather man has promised for the last four days of this week and the various side shows that have come from a distance will charge only a nominal admittance fee."

The Gazette hopes that Colorado Springs will be well represented, and we can assure all visitors from this city that they will be well received and entertained with genuine Pueblo hospitality, than which there is none better anywhere on earth.

REPUBLICAN CONFIDENCE INCREASING.

WITHIN the past two weeks there has been an increasing confidence among well informed Republicans, in spite of Democratic claims of success and the cautious utterances of some Republican leaders who would be glad to see an evener contest as a means of getting out a full Republican vote.

But following upon the collapse of anti-imperialism as a paramount issue has come the conviction that the Democratic cry against the trusts cannot be magnified into a reasonable argument for Mr. Bryan's success, and without anti-imperialism and without the trusts, Mr. Bryan and the Democrats are left without any safe basis for the remaining five weeks of the campaign.

That anti-imperialism is a failure does not admit of doubt. It was punctured most effectually by President McKinley's letter of acceptance, and what was left of it was shattered by the report of the Philippines commission. The success of anti-imperialism depended upon the ignorance of the voters, and while it is still used as an excuse by many voters who intend to vote for Mr. Bryan, the number who are actually influenced by that as a reason is very small. As for the trusts, the record of the Democracy and of individual Democrats is too shaky to warrant success with that. And furthermore the people of this country are not yet convinced that it is wise to summarily destroy all combinations of capital, the good with the bad, or to trust to the Democracy in the nation a power which it has shown no capacity to use in the state. The rabid Democratic utterances against capital may evoke applause from Democratic audiences, but they do not make votes from those independent thinkers upon whom party success depends.

On the other hand the Republicans are gaining strength both on the issue of prosperity and the issue of national honor and loyalty. Nothing that has been advanced by any Democratic speaker has contravened the general proposition that the Republican administration for the past four years, both in domestic and foreign affairs, has been a magnificent success, and the voter who makes up his mind slowly sees no reason why a continuance of present conditions would not be a good thing. There is certainly no reason for voting for a change, and there is not one man in 100,000 who would desire to return to the conditions of four years ago. The promise, made by the Democratic candidate and the Democratic convention, of independence to rebels now in arms against the flag, and engaged for no good reason in shooting down our soldiers, has drawn very clearly the issue between loyalty to the flag and factious and partisan opposition which treads close to the thin edge of treason. In criticizing the policy of our government we believe that Mr. Bryan is clearly within his rights as an American citizen and as the candidate of an opposition party, but none the less in advising surrender to rebels in arms he is meriting the righteous condemnation of the American people, and he is receiving it in greater and greater measure day by day.

With anti-imperialism exposed as an empty fraud and anti-trust stripped of its pretense, the Democracy has little upon which to base its effort. Mr. Bryan grows distinctly apologetic and explanatory as he faces his audiences and appeals to class prejudices in the effort to retain his followers. In our own state an intense bitterness and violence both of act and expression mark the losing struggle of those who have exhausted their store of arguments without effect. Such methods never win. They are a confession of defeat, and as such they are recognized by the people. The Democratic speakers and writers today are driving voters away and not bringing them into the party.

A PARTY WITHOUT ISSUES.

THE Democracy has not one solitary decent argument upon which to ask for votes in the present campaign.

Anti-imperialism is composed of equal parts of folly and falsehood.

Militarism is a nightmare.

Free silver is dead.

Free trade is buried in the past.

Anti-trustism is a hollow pretense.

The Democratic party has no honest claim on the people of this country.

It bases its hope of success upon the solid vote of the ten southern states in which the result is determined by disenfranchisement and terrorism, supplemented primarily by the Tammany gang in New York and other corrupt rings in other northern cities.

No party ever appealed to the nation upon weaker grounds, and we cannot believe but that the result will be consistent with its position.

Mr. Patterson is quoted as saying that all men on the fusion ticket look alike to him, if they are only for Bryan. That is a rather neat way of covering the notable defects of the fusion ticket, but it is the same excuse that in one form or another has been used by the fusionists since the beginning, and its result has been disgraceful incompetence and failure in state, county and municipal government all along the line.

No speaker in the present campaign is likely to receive a more attentive hearing in Colorado than Senator Stewart of Nevada, and his speeches are certain to have a strong influence.

Colorado has interests in congress that need looking after. Two Republican congressmen are what the state needs in this line.

FROM THE STATE PRESS

Items of Interest for Gazette Readers From All Parts of the State.

SOME STATE POLITICS.

The Democratic newspapers are making great sport over the report that the national Republican headquarters have received the names of 150 persons resident in Colorado who have changed from their convictions of four years ago. The fusionite press sarcastically declares that "such stupendous figures will no doubt frighten the fusion forces to death." It would be a very easy matter to furnish a list of 150 persons resident right here in La Junta who have changed their political convictions of four years ago. If the change of political sentiment in other parts of the state is as great as it has been in Otero county during the past four years, Colorado will be lined up in the Republican column this fall.—(La Junta Tribune.

The recent Republican state convention was one of the most representative bodies ever held in Colorado and the intense interest in its proceedings augurs well for the candidates of its selection. The merchant and the miner, the farmer, the artisan and the professional men—all will join together for the redemption of Colorado from the bankrupting influence and miserable misrule of Democracy.—(Glenwood Post.

Republicans are gaining strength each day in Colorado. The confidence which thoughtful people have learned to repose in the present administration is spreading over the state in a wonderful way. The outlook is bright for some great surprises this fall.—(Denver Statesman.

Assaults, fist fights and riots were among the chief features of the Democratic county convention. No better evidence could be offered of the general incompetence and unworthiness of the local Democracy to govern. Men who do not know how to conduct a convention are not to be trusted with the reins of government.—(Denver Statesman.

Republicans should not be slow to realize the fact the local conventions are over, that the representative, judicial and county tickets are in the field and that now it becomes largely a matter of individual effort whether or not these tickets are victorious at the polls. Those who are proud to call themselves Republicans should feel that the party's success is their success, nor should they forget that the defeat of its candidates is the defeat of the party. Happily there are no wounds to heal, no misunderstandings to untangle as a result of these conventions. There is absolute harmony in the Republican camp. But let us have activity as well as harmony, zeal, enthusiasm. The victory is certainly worth the effort, undeserved without it.—(Sterling Advocate.

THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES.

As we predicted last week, the Republican state convention has placed before the voters of Colorado a clean, strong ticket, a ticket all can vote and know that they are voting for the best men. No better man was ever nominated for the high office of governor than Hon. Frank C. Goudy and that he will be elected goes without saying. We have not space this week to fully enumerate the many strong points of the ticket and will only say that it is the best ticket ever put before the people of Colorado for that its election insures a business administration of state affairs, something the state has not been blessed with for year.—(Gillett Leader.

The Republican state convention has placed before the people of the state what is believed to be the strongest and best ticket ever nominated in Colorado, headed by Frank C. Goudy for governor. The convention was harmonious throughout and enthusiastic in the extreme. The platform adopted is a plain and patriotic declaration of principles, and commends itself to the people.—(Morrison Graphic.

Hon. Robert W. Bonynge of Denver, was unanimously and enthusiastically nominated as the Republican candidate for congress in this, the First, district at the Republican congressional district convention held at Greeley on Wednesday afternoon. The action of the convention meets the universal approval of Larimer county Republicans who will give Mr. Bonynge their hearty support.—(Ft. Collins Courier.

Mr. R. W. Bonynge, of Denver, who was nominated by the Republicans as candidate for representative in congress from the First district, of which Lake county is a part, is a man of high standing and ability and would make a splendid representative in the lower body. The present incumbent is a man without a party, a sort of political maverick depending on the good will of the nearest ranch, who cannot in the very nature of things, accomplish much at Washington.—(Leadville Herald-Democrat.

What a master stroke that was to name Frank C. Goudy for governor. He is the cleanest man in Colorado politics today and the only public office he ever held was district attorney on this side of the range in the early days. Mr. Goudy is the ideal candidate and when he goes into the governor's chair it will be his determination to handle affairs in the most economical manner, legitimate enterprises in the state will be encouraged; the office will not be used to bolster up the political ambition of any person, neither will his power be exercised to corrupt politics. In short Frank Goudy will redeem Colorado from the disgrace of the present extravagant and incompetent administration.—(Gunnison Tribune.

Frank C. Goudy, the Republican nominee for governor, is a former Gunnison county man. He is one of the best lawyers in the state and has built up a lasting reputation for himself in his profession. Gunnison county people know him and he can rest assured of a big vote from this county. Frank Goudy is one of those outspoken, upright men and always has the confidence of his friends and party. He is shrewd as a statesman and lawyer and is an orator of considerable reputation. Colorado need not feel ashamed of him if he is elected to the high office of governor of so prominent a state as this, because he is one of the brightest men in it.—(Gunnison News.

The Republican state convention at Denver, Monday, was one of the largest and most enthusiastic political conventions ever held in the state. Nearly all the old party leaders who had wandered after false gods were back, and took an active part in the convention. There is a general confidence that the party will be victorious this fall. The ticket nominated is printed in the first column.—(Boulder News.

With Hon. H. M. Hogg of this city as the Republican nominee for congress, Percy S. Rider of Rico for lieutenant governor, Orson Adams of Grand Junction for state treasurer and Thomas F. Walsh of Ouray for presidential elector, the Western slope has not been overlooked by the Republicans in the selection of a ticket that will score a complete victory at the coming election and the [illegible]

[illegible]publican ticket is one to be proud of and every [illegible] should make it a duty to see that it is [illegible]ber election. No state political convention ever before held in Colorado has recognized the rights of the people who make up the western portion of the state as has the Republican convention just held, and the people who reside west of the Great Divide will not be slow in deciding to cast their votes for their fellow citizens and the mutual interests of all the residents of the west part of the state. For the first time in the history of politics in Colorado a state ticket may be elected composed of men not owned and dictated by Arapahoe county.—(San Miguel Examiner.

The nomination of H. M. Hogg for congress by the Republicans of the Second district was a happy conclusion. As a man there is nothing to say against Ed. Browne of Aspen, but this is not the year when men seeking office should be elected, but rather men whom the office has sought. Mr. Hogg did not enter the race of his own volition, but at the urgent solicitation of hundreds of friends and the great southwest section. That he represents the views of the people to a greater extent on all national interests uppermost in this campaign than his opponent, no one will deny for a moment. He is an able man and a hard worker, and as a member of the dominant party in control of legislation will be in a position to do more for this section and the west than Mr. Bell.—(Durango Herald.

According to present indications Robert W. Bonynge will be the head man on the Republican ticket in this congressional district. The Democrats have no love for Shafroth. This was shown by the letter of A. B. McKinley in withdrawing from the candidacy. McKinley and a strong Democratic following felt the Democrats should have the nomination. On general principles they are mad and would not care to vote for him. For two years the Democrats have begun to hate the Silver Republicans and have shown it in all parts of this state and especially in Denver. This feeling cropped out more and more. On the silver question Mr. Shafroth, if elected, would vote according to the Democratic platform if he ever had a chance to do so. But the silver question will not come up again. Down in their hearts the Democrats realize this. On the other questions Shafroth is a Republican, so that whether Bonynge or Shafroth is elected, this congressional district will be represented in congress by a Republican. Under these circumstances many Democrats will not vote for congressman at all, because of being disgruntled and not a few will vote for Bonynge, to spite the Silver Republicans. Bonynge's chances for election seem better than any one else on the state ticket.—(Boulder Herald.

At the Republican senatorial convention of the Twenty-first senatorial district, held at Glenwood Springs last Saturday, Hon. John H. Fesler was unanimously nominated for state senator from Eagle and Garfield counties. This nomination is the very best that could have been made and the Republican party has again acted with integrity and common sense. Should Mr. Fesler be elected, and we confidently expect he will be, it is not likely that he will be the whole thing down in the legislature as was his predecessor and present opponent, but he will nevertheless fill the position creditably to himself and to his constituents of the district.—(Red Cliff Blade.

POLITICAL COMMENT.

It is admitted by the Democracy that the election of Bryan would immediately bring on a panic, but they say that the country would in time adjust itself to changed conditions and be more prosperous than now. Our friends have made so many promises that have failed that we cannot trust them. Better is a pound of prosperity in the hand than a ton of promises in the bush.—(Greeley Sun.

To our many readers and patrons. We beg to state, that we have an abiding faith in the doctrines and good intentions of the Republican party. We are thoroughly convinced and candidly believe, that the doctrine of fusion is false in its very inception and inimical to the best interests of the county, state and nation, and believing, as we do, that the principles of the Republican party are the true principles of government, We therefore feel it a duty to give the "Grand Old Party" our unqualified support.—(Morrison Graphic.

If Senator Wolcott had kept quiet during the meeting in Victor, as requested to do by Gov. Roosevelt, we believe that there would have been no demonstration whatever. Senator Wolcott, to say the least, egged the crowd on by his references to Bryan and to the silver forces. Had he remained in his chair and allowed Roosevelt to proceed, the result, we are confident, would have been much different. But Wolcott was hasty—too hasty and the result was a noisy demonstration, and in large measure he must be blamed for it.—(Cripple Creek Times-Citizen.

Teddy Roosevelt has been waking Colorado up politically this week. It has not been aroused for years. The people have responded in grand style to Senator Teller's dirty attack on Roosevelt.—(Lamar Register.

WESTERN INTERESTS.

Pueblo Republicans were exceedingly gratified at the aid rendered last night by Colorado Springs in turning out an imposing demonstration that was an honor to the Arkansas valley. The Flambeau club from the Springs literally covered itself with a blaze of glory.—(Pueblo Chieftain.

The completion of the Burlington's Black Hills line marks an epoch in the history of Sterling and an epoch in the history of western railroad building. It completes the first chain of road that will ultimately lead from the gulf to Alaska. In this day it presents the shortest route from Denver to the Black Hills and opens to the people of Colorado and Nebraska a short route to the Pacific coast. To Sterling this line ought to mean much. As the business of the road increases, as it certainly will increase, the town should move forward. Let it not stand in its own way. We believe the time is ripe for the organization of a board of trade, or for a concerted movement of the business men toward advancing the interests of the town.—(Sterling Advocate.

ABOUT THE GAZETTE.

The Colorado Springs Gazette is soon to issue an evening edition. The Gazette is a staunch Republican paper, well edited, and has considerable influence.—(Longmont Ledger.

Mr. L. Ashman of the Colorado Springs Gazette is in the city in the interest of that paper. The Gazette is the only daily paper in the state that remained true to the Republican party through the cyclone and is now equal to either of the Denver papers. (Boulder News.

The literary features of the Colorado Springs Sunday Gazette are beyond all comparison the best furnished by any Colorado Sunday paper.—(Telluride Journal.

Colorado Springs at Denver's Horse Show

The Colorado Springs Horse Show is regarded as the best event of its kind that has yet been held in Colorado. There were more entries and better exhibitions than ever before. The horse show people, however, have not concluded their work for the season with the Colorado Springs show.

The Denver horse show, an annual event, is to take place this week on Wednesday and Thursday and Colorado Springs will be on hand there for a place among the ribbon takers.

There is some uncertainty as to just what people of Colorado Springs will go to the show, but it is known that there will be a good crowd and the Colorado Springs horse owners will be on hand with entries. George D. B. Bonbright will take Bonnie and Laffe to Denver, and inasmuch as he was a winner both in this city and Denver a year ago and in this city in the show just closed, there is a good probability that he will bring honors back to Colorado Springs with him this week.

Mr. Scudder's ponies also will go to Denver and there is a good chance that they will be among the prize winners.

Messrs. Ashbrook and Sims of Kansas City yesterday morning shipped their handsome strings of entries to Denver and will compete in all the events there in which they competed in Colorado Springs. Mr. Ashbrook himself left yesterday morning for Glenwood, where he will spend a day or two, returning to Denver on Wednesday in time for the show.

"Limestone Belle" and "Columbus," the two magnificent high school gaited saddle horses which so completely captivated the hearts of Colorado Springs people will compete against the Denver show. "Columbus," George Bernard's horse, was given the decision here, but inasmuch as the two horses meet in nearly all the horse shows that take place in the west and "Limestone Belle" has more than once been the winner, the competition in Denver will be close and interesting.

Just what other horses Mr. Bernard will send to the show is not known as he has had to leave the state for a few days on account of the death of his father in Oklahoma. "Columbus," however, has already been sent to Denver and will certainly perform. Mr. and Mrs. William Powell, C. E. Owen, J. W. Coffey and a great many others from Colorado Springs will attend the Denver show, but as parties are not yet made up the exact number who will go cannot yet be stated.

Early Morning Raid At the Collender

The police made a raid on the Collender billiard hall in the rear of Robinson's drug store early yesterday morning and succeeded in surprising a poker game in which four persons were engaged. The raid was made shortly before 3 o'clock in the morning by Chief of Police Henry, Acting Captain Bennett and Officer Gaines. Chief Henry called upon the men inside to open the door but the men inside gave no indication that they were going to comply so he took a heavy timber which was lying close at hand and burst the door in. The police entered immediately and found four men in position to play with cards and money in front of them.

The men arrested were H. Stockbridge, who runs the billiard hall; E. W. Dennis, H. E. Strachan and Thomas Williams. A colored porter named Sadler and one or two others were in the room but the police had no evidence that they had been playing. At police headquarters Chief Henry allowed the men to go on $100 bond each. Stockbridge was released on his own recognizance and furnished the bond for the others.

The police state that they have heard the clink of money and have seen other evidences of gambling at the billiard hall for some weeks and had determined to make a raid on the place. They state that the sound of the money has been distinctly discernible by any one passing through the alley. Yesterday morning the officers heard the noise and immediately notified Acting Captain Bennett, who called up the chief. Chief Henry came up town and took the acting captain and Officer Gaines with him to make the raid. Gaines was stationed at the front door and the chief and acting captain went around to the rear door, as the playing was going on in the back part of the room. Chief Henry called upon the men inside to open. They asked him who he was and he replied "Jim." There was some parleying on the inside and the chief then called out that he was an officer, but there was no sign that the door was going to be opened, so he attacked it with a 4x4 and smashed open the lock with the first blow. One of the men was standing close to the door when it opened and was knocked to the floor by the force but was not hurt.

The officers advanced to the billiard table around which the men were playing and quickly gathered up the cards and just $7 in money which was lying on it. The men will have a hearing in police court this morning. Mr. Stockbridge stated that he was not running a gambling place and that he and some friends were merely engaged in a social game.

Death Was Caused by Accidental Shooting

George W. Norman, a young colored man who was working on the grade of the new short line, accidentally shot and killed himself early yesterday morning.

Norman, with another colored man, were engaged in rolling rock off the grade near camp No. 2 at the head of Cheyenne canon at about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. Norman had a revolver in his inside coat pocket. While rolling a big rock over he lost his balance and fell over the side and the revolver in his pocket went off, the bullet entering the right breast and causing almost instant death.

The remains were brought down to Coroner Law's rooms in this city, and the coroner notified the young man's father, who lives in Pueblo. The father came up yesterday and took the remains of his son back with him for burial. It was clearly a case of accidental death and Coroner Law did not hold an inquest.

DEATH CLAIMS MR. WALTER A. BALDWIN

The death of Mr. Walter A. Baldwin, which occurred at his late residence, 219 East Dale street, on Saturday afternoon, brought sorrow to the hearts of many people in this city. Mr. Baldwin's death was due to congestion of the brain brought on by fever, and came after an illness of 10 days. Mr. Baldwin leaves a wife and two children, one a boy about 14 years of age and the other a baby two weeks old. He also leaves a mother who lives in Canon City, but who was with him when he died; Howard Baldwin, who is connected with the firm of Perkins Morton & Co. of this city; and two sisters, Mrs. S. B. Rooney of Denver and Mrs. F. W. Hart of La Junta.

Mr. Baldwin was well known and very highly esteemed in business circles in this city and Cripple Creek. He has for the past two years been Mr. W. S. Stratton's head bookkeeper in this city and for the two years previous was with Mr. Stratton in Victor. He enjoyed the highest confidence of his employer and of his associates in business. A large number of personal friends throughout the city join the bereaved relatives in mourning his loss.

The funeral will take place from the late residence on Dale street tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be in charge of the Masonic order. Mr. Baldwin having been a member of the Masonic lodge at Victor. Friends of the family are invited to the funeral. Interment will take place at Evergreen cemetery.

COYOTE CHASERS FOUND NO GAME

Joe Kenyon and his coyote chasers had another unfruitful run yesterday morning. A party of seven left the El Paso stables for the Kerr ranch neighborhood and searched diligently for something to chase, but without success and returned empty-handed. The only excitement was caused by the breakage of a wheel to the dog cart. Those in the party were A. E. Ashbrook of Kansas City, P. Gregory of Brooklyn, Dr. W. A. Hickman, W. L. Evans, George McCall, Harold Ehrich and Joe Kenyon of this city.

Mr. Kenyon is getting his dogs ready for the coursing meet to be held in Denver next Sunday. The Denver promoters of the meet are expecting to give some good sport. From Denver the dogs will go to Kansas to attend the meets at Mankato and Abilene.

NEWS AND NOTES OF COLORADO CITY

Another important question now confronts the council at Colorado City. It is the appointment of a new councilman to take the place of S. E. Miller who has signified his intentions of resigning. The announcement that Mr. Miller would soon submit his resignation was made yesterday and it has already caused considerable comment as it will doubtless have its significance in the future history of the present council.

At the present time the council consists of four Good Government members and three representatives of the Citizens' party. Heretofore the Good Government councilmen have been able to carry whatever measures they saw fit to propose for the reason that they were in the majority. The question which now arises is what party will the new councilman be chosen from or will another councilman be chosen. If the present members fail to come to satisfactory terms in the matter the Good Government councilmen can prevent the selection of a new member to take Mr. Miller's place. It will take four votes to elect a councilman and there are only three representatives of the Citizen's party in the present council.

Mr. Miller has decided to move his family to Los Angeles, Cala., for future residence and his resignation will probably be submitted to the council at the regular meeting to be held two weeks from this evening. It is not known whether or not the council will at that time attempt the selection of a new councilman. Mr. Miller has been a member of the council since last April and he is known as one of the most competent men in that body. The departure of the family will be deeply felt in the community.

The city council will meet in regular session this evening. Among the most important business scheduled for the meeting is the granting of saloon licenses for the coming half-year. The new ordinance by which the licenses were raised from $500 to $1,000 per year will go into effect today and the number of licenses asked for will doubtless be less than heretofore.

An important meeting of the library board was held Friday evening at the home of Mayor George. All the members of the board were present and considerable business was transacted. The first matter taken up was the election of a member to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. A. L. Humphrey who recently moved to Denver. The only name proposed was that of Mrs. Frank Ferris and she was elected by a unanimous vote.

The board then proceeded to the selection of a librarian to take the place of Miss Byrd Johnson who submitted her resignation a few weeks ago. Two names were presented but Miss Leona Lucas was chosen to the position. The matter of new books for the library was taken up and discussed and it was finally deferred until the next regular meeting of the board for the purpose of giving the members a chance to find out just what books are needed. Several new magazines and papers were subscribed for.

W. P. Epperson, F. F. Schreiber, P. J. Steinmetz, John F. Morgan, O. R. Dunnington and H. C. Kinsman went to Colorado Springs Saturday afternoon to attend as delegates the legislative convention which was held at that time. The delegates who attended the senatorial convention were Alva George, J. R. Watt, O. R. Dunnington, C. E. Evans and B. F. Irvin. All the delegates were delighted over the nomination of their fellow citizen, J. B. Stephen, as a candidate for the state legislature.

R. T. Godfrey has recently sold to Adam Geiger two lots on the southeast corner of Jefferson avenue and Fifth street. Mr. Geiger will soon commence the erection of two large fine houses on the newly purchased property.

The following letter was received Friday evening by City Treasurer H. C. Kinsman from Mr. J. W. Sealy, chairman of the finance committee for the Galveston relief fund, in reply to the money recently sent from Colorado City:

Dear Sir—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your valued favor of the 19th instant with draft for $39.62, contributed by the people of Colorado City to the relief of the Galveston flood sufferers. In behalf of our distressed people I thank your good citizens for their generous assistance in our hour of need. Your contribution and your sympathy are both much appreciated. Yours truly, (Signed.) J. W. Sealy.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Taylor entertained a few friends last Tuesday evening at their home on Colorado avenue. Progressive high five was the pleasure of the evening. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. N. B. Hames returned Thursday from Quincy, Ill., where she spent a few weeks visiting with her son, Gus Hames, who is attending school there. She was accompanied on her return by Miss Edna Moats of Herman, Ill., who will spend some time in the city.

Rev. J. P. Lucas preached yesterday morning and evening at the Methodist church. The newly appointed pastor will arrive in the city this week and will take charge of his work here next Sunday.

Dr. John Greer and wife have returned to their home in Denver after a few weeks stay in the city. Dr. Greer has had charge of Mr. McIntosh's drug store during the latter's recent absence.

Mrs. L. C. Powell and daughter, Miss Evelyn removed Saturday to Victor where Mr. Powell has taken up his new charge.

Mrs. W. F. Benedict has been quite ill for several days.

Miss Gwendoline Stockbridge has gone to Denver to attend school at the academy of the Sisters of Loretto.

AT THE THEATRES

"THE MAN FROM MEXICO."

This Popular Comedy Will Be Seen at the Opera House Tonight.

George Boniface in Broadhurst Bros. production of "The Man from Mexico" which will be the attraction at the Opera house this evening will be hailed with pleasure by all who witnessed the play last season. To those of our readers who did not see it a slight story of the play will not be amiss. "The Man from Mexico" begins at just the time of adventure when most French farces end. The awful night of excitement, complication and vocal gaiety at the questionable home of entertainment is all over when the curtain rises on the first act. Benjamin Fitzhew has had his night of it, together with his friend Majors, and Mrs. Fitzhew has had hers while vainly trying to follow him. The chasers and the chased did not meet and now all would be serenely over—only Fitzhew was arrested, sentenced to thirty days on Blackwell's Island, with the one privilege of first going home to straighten out his affairs. The action commences with Fitzhew in his own house, under charge of a deputy, doomed to serve thirty days and plausibly account for them to his wife. The end of this complication and the beginning of others is that he leaves home avowedly bound for the land of Mexico. Really he goes to jail and endures a solid month of comical misunderstanding and finally comes home in the costume of a Toreador, and lies to his wife up to that point where even his eventual confession of part of the truth needs a fatal corroboration. George C. Boniface, Jr., will impersonate "The Man" and he will have the assistance of the following well known players to aid him in his fun making: Gus Pixley, M. L. Heckert, Robert Deshon, J. Trew Gray, Arthur Villars, D. H. Landon, D. W. Siegrist, Helen Baird, Adeline Mann, Agnes Burke and Martha Deane.

"M'FADDEN'S ROW OF FLATS.

"McFadden's Row of Flats," best of all farcical plays on the review order, with its unusual fun, good music, specialties and lots of lovely girls is due here next Saturday and will be presented at the Opera house. "McFadden's Row of Flats" is seen this year in a brand new dress in detail. There is a complete set of newly designed scenery, the costuming is more elaborate than ever before and the company ranks second to none offering musical extravaganza. Among the specialties introduced are Harry Watson, the comical tramp cyclist; the musical Frederick Brothers, Bobby Ralston, Ima Thomas, Frank Cotton and his educated donkeys; McWaters and Tyson, John Price, Harry Sullivan, Jennie Lamont, Alonzo Lang and others well known in vaudeville work. The many new musical arrangements serve to display an imitation of Sousa and his band and a lot of other things equally as humorous. Good dancing and plenty of tuneful songs are rendered in abundance.

"VANITY FAIR."

To be amused and pleasantly so is one of the most agreeable reliefs from the worries of business. The best mode of obtaining it may generally be found in the lighter forms where a happy combination of elements from the best efforts of entertainers pass rapidly from one subject to another, giving also all the aid that can be had from costumes and other effects. This most desirable arrangement is said to be obtained with "Vanity Fair," the newest things in comedy, farce and vaudeville, which is to be seen at the Opera house Tuesday evening. "Vanity Fair" as arranged for this season represents an interesting mixture of music, sensational acrobatic feats and grotesque burlesque antics, with comedy, farce, song and other features. The bill is said to contain a sufficiency of pleasing and entertaining comedy, singing and high class music, participated in by known actors and most charming women.

JONES AND WELLINGTON IN NEW QUARTERS

Messrs. Jones & Wellington the well-known druggists, are at present engaged in moving their stock of goods and fixtures from the Hagerman block, at the corner of Kiowa and Tejon streets, to the McIntyre-Barnett block, 109 North Tejon street. These enterprising gentlemen have leased the north half of the store room in this building and now have sufficient room to run a drug store on a scale appropriate to the size of the city.

The work of moving began on Saturday night and about half the stock and fixtures were transferred. The rest of the goods will be taken over today, and the store will be partially open during the day. These gentlemen expect to fit up their store in the most modern style and will have handsome fixtures and appointments. They expect to very greatly increase the size of their stock of goods as they now have room for a larger stock and are settled in a definite location. Owing to the anticipated change of location they have for some time heretofore bought only as the requirements of their business absolutely necessitated. From now on, however, this drug store will have as good up-to-date stock as any store of its kind in the west. Every line of goods found in the best stores of the country will be found here and Messrs. Jones & Wellington expect to establish a reputation of having the most complete and the best drug store in the state.

MARKET LETTERS

GARDNER & CO.'S MARKET LETTER

Colorado Springs Sept 29

Trading continues light but the general market looks better and more hopeful with signs around the edge of both inside and eastern buying. Everything in this world is superlative only by comparison. Going home the other night we were "touched" by a party who claimed to have had nothing to eat all day. On getting 25 cents he poured out his thanks as follows. What kind of a something dinner can I get for 25 cents.

It is with this exact spirit that many people regard the market and going values. Because a stock sold at 20 cents a few months ago and is now selling at 10 or 12 cents they think something wrong and decline to buy. It was wrong to buy at 20 but it's all right now as present prices in many cases are below the real merits and conditions of the property represented. Thirty months ago [illegible] sold at [illegible] cents a share [illegible] cents. No one found fault because the stock [illegible]. Today the shares sell at 10 cents and people say it cannot be good for anything [illegible] first [illegible].

Most stocks are undoubtedly about as low as they will go on this break. We divide them into the following classes and would represent only [illegible] stocks in the old and well known list of companies that have been traded in for years and are now at rolled down [illegible] mental values. First the dividend payers. Any person can figure out interest on present [illegible] to this the chances of a speculative advance. Gold [illegible] Elkton and Vindicator all represent fine property.

Next comes the better class of stocks prospective or certain dividend payers with a speculative future value, Mt Rosa, Ophir, Acacia, Anaconda, Isabella, Independence, El Paso [illegible]. Then follows the numerous list of well located [illegible] of speculative value [illegible] Nugget [illegible] Damon, Gold Expression, Work, [illegible] Ingham [illegible]. Then comes the host of good companies owning properties of prospective speculative value such as Dante, Rose Maud, Central, [illegible] National, [illegible] Battle [illegible] Ironclad [illegible] Charter [illegible] Rock Mountain [illegible].

After the big [illegible] the straggling [illegible] Golden [illegible] Gold [illegible] Lincoln [illegible] prompt [illegible] the entire list of the shares promoted [illegible] high [illegible] that the [illegible] and are [illegible] advise there [illegible] shares which [illegible] for years [illegible] into [illegible] competition [illegible] mining [illegible] can not [illegible] expected to grasp the entire [illegible] week. There are alone 160 [illegible] on the exchange blackboard. Providing that two [illegible] could be examined [illegible] it would take three months to go over the list. At the same ratio of time it would take years to examine into the merits of the entire list of mining companies incorporated to do business in Cripple Creek. We firmly believe our market will do better. Remember that the [illegible] speculator is like a [illegible] a stone wall and the entire flock follows.

[illegible] been selling stocks but [illegible] higher values and the great outside of investing public will rush to follow. We believe that many people will regret next winter [illegible] stocks in the summer slump of 1900 [illegible] as the [illegible] in the autumn.

REED & HAMLIN'S MARKET LETTER

Colorado Springs Sept 28 1900

An active market with lower prices has prevailed since the publication of our last letter. Owing to the unsettled conditions of the markets of the world, we can hardly expect our market to be otherwise. So far as the Cripple Creek district is concerned it deserves the confidence of the investor and is receiving it. This is best illustrated by the fact that a large number of shares daily change hands. We believe that at the low prices at which our stocks are selling many have reached bed rock yet further declines may be continued for a short time longer but surely the time will come and we believe it is very near when the investors who have been holding off should avail themselves of the opportunities presented to them by the present low prices.

Amongst the shares that seem very low [illegible] would recommend the following:

Amongst the dividend payers Vindicator at $1 10 Gold King at $1 [illegible] and Acacia at 39.

Amongst the mines producing but not yet dividend paying Work at [illegible] cents Independence Consolidated at 49 and Gold Dollar at 13.

Among the prospects Antelope at 2½, Champion at 7 Gold Hill at 3 Central at [illegible] Currency at [illegible] Little Bessie at [illegible] Mag[illegible] Mariposa at 3½ New [illegible] Rock at 3 [illegible] Rob[illegible] [illegible] Rose Nicol at 10 Rose Maud [illegible] [illegible] American Consolidated [illegible] Buckhorn at [illegible] 12 [illegible] Mutual at [illegible]

BONBRIGHT & CO.'S MARKET LETTER

28th September 1900

The market improved slightly during the last days of the week and a fair proportion of the list shows net gains though these latter are with few exceptions fractional only. Notable advances were made by Findley 1¼c to [illegible] Work 1¾c [illegible] and Mt [illegible] Beauty [illegible] Fractional gains were made by [illegible] Consolidated Dante Elkton Isabella [illegible] Columbia Rose Maud Gold Sovereign Goldstone and Kimberly. Further losses were sustained by Pharmacist New Haven, Robert Burns, Acacia Bob Lee Columbine Victor Damon National Rattler and Reno. We look for an improving market in view of the strong probability of an early settlement of the anthracite strike.

While the precipitate decline of the preceding week seems to have been checked the market has been generally dull and dragging with the accompaniment of a considerable shrinkage in the volume of business. The possibility of trouble with the miners over the clothes searching orders promulgated by a majority of the large companies now happily averted had a depressing effect on Monday the remainder of the week was without special feature the market being comparatively steady at the decline.

A notable exception to market decline was Nugget which was strong on favorable reports from the property. The shaft in the Smith lease on the Elizabeth Cooper has reached the 400 foot level where a crosscut has been started for the vein. As this latter is producing well in the upper levels extensive additions to the stoping ground may fairly be counted on. It is stated that the work to prove apex in connection with the suit against the Doctor company is progressing favorably and it is likely that the knowledge of this and the growing belief that consolidation will be the final outcome have had much to do with the demand for the stock during the past few days.

We have especially good reports from Pharmacist Acacia Cripple Creek Gold Exploration and Ingham and regard these as among the best purchases on the list. Lessees on the Work property are still fighting water at the 700 foot level and have just installed two new pumps which it is believed will enable them to cope with the extraordinary flow. Strikes are reported on the Find[illegible] and in the property of the C[illegible] Columbia. Two veins have recently been cut in the Columbia one of which is believed to be the Tillery vein.

EDSALL, KEY & CO.'S MARKET LETTER

Colorado Springs Sept 29 1900

Dear Sir: A very decided reaction set in on Thursday's call and conditions have been improving ever since. On Friday both price and demand experienced a perceptible change, prices advancing with a strong demand. This was in marked contrast with the first three days of the week. On Monday the market opened quite weak with falling prices the latter continuing through the entire day. There was a very slight reaction on Tuesday in some of the stocks notably Elkton Isabella Jolly June Rocky Mountain and Acacia. On the afternoon call however this temporary improvement disappeared and the market was weaker than ever. On Wednesday trading was light the stocks fell from ¼ to 1c below the former low prices. The conditions prevailing in the earlier part of the week were in a measure due to a threatened strike on the part of the miners in some of the larger properties. It has been claimed that for some time past large amounts of ore aggregating thousands of dollars per month have been stolen by the miners. In order to prevent a continuation of this state of affairs the managers of the Elkton Gold Coin, Portland Stratton's Independence and Vindicator companies signed a contract agreeing to compel all miners in their employ to strip upon leaving their work and pass into an adjoining room before the inspection of two representatives of the company. This the miners positively refused to do and for a couple of days Stratton's Independence was closed down. On Thursday however the order was so modified that the miners were obliged to strip only to their underwear which modification was accepted by the workmen. Everything is again in full blast and the threatened strike has been averted.

As we have formerly stated it is impossible to predict with absolute certainty just when the bottom has been reached but the indications of the past three days lead us to believe that prices have been as low as they will be this season. Certain it is that those who availed themselves of the opportunities of last week can even now dispose of their holdings at a profit. There may be other reactions between now and election but we consider it unsafe for anticipating investors to delay for such possibilities.

DELANY & DELANY'S MARKET LETTER

Sept 29 1900

The market is quiet but strong the trading being confined almost exclusively to filling orders.

The Cripple Creek district itself seems to be devoid of anything of a startling feature and the general feeling seems to be a waiting for something to turn up.

The general manager's report on the Isabella workings is anything but encouraging. The showing in the lower level of the mine does not encourage the belief of any immediate increased production. The company owns a large area of undeveloped territory and unless they open up new ore bodies we do not look for any decided change in the market on the stock.

Squaw mountain properties are receiving a large share of attention and the recent reported strikes on the Gold [illegible] Eagle Big Mike and Papoose are encouraging [illegible] believers in the mountain.

[illegible] and the prospect stage and is now looked upon as one of the large permanent mines of the district. Squaw mountain lies side by side to Battle mountain and the formation in many respects is alike. Another year will find a decided increase in values on this hill.

SEPTEMBER OUTPUT

Production of the Cripple Creek District for Past Month Amounted to 45 000 Tons of Ore Valued at $1,916,000.

Special to the Gazette

Cripple Creek Sept 30—The output of the district for the month of September amounts to 45 000 tons of ore with value of $1 916 000. This shows an improvement over the month of August of nearly $200 000. The Gillett mill has been idle for the past month and the Brodie and Detroit mills are also closed down. The Independence mine lost three shifts but this did not materially affect the production and the Portland by a heavy output the first part of the month made up for the last few days during which time the men have been laid off while repairs are being made. The other mines of the district are producing heavier than usual and a steady increase is looked for from now on. The itemized table is as follows:

Yesterday In the Local Pulpits.

REV. ORMES AT SECOND CONGREGATIONAL

At the evening service at the Second Congregational church yesterday Rev Manly D Ormes delivered the following sermon,

I Cor 14:20 Brethren be not children in mind howbeit in malice be ye babes but in mind be men

The Corinthians spoke in unknown tongues. We today are not perfectly sure what this was. St Paul surely contends against speaking in unknown tongues—without interpretation it has no more point or meaning than the gibberish of babes. With respect to speaking in unknown tongues he said in effect Do not imitate babes in their meaningless prattle. Have some common sense, some judgment, the judgment of mature sensible men. But in the matter of malice, a sin which is almost universal, a sin which was extravagantly prevalent in Corinth—in malice they might with profit imitate babes. In malice be ye babes but in mind in judgment in common sense be men

The practice of malice is very general and it is also very foolish. It is highly esteemed among savages. It consists in giving a blow for a blow and is not confined alone to those peoples called savage. One man gets ahead of another who has done him a wrong. He uses his place and power to punish. Settling old scores, paying old debts, getting even with an enemy is a prevailing practice but it is the very summit of folly. I asked a councilman how a certain man lost his place. Well he replied he worked against some of those who were elected and when they could they let him out. What is this but civilized savagery? A man is an awful poor politician who cannot forgive. One of the chief aims in politics is to win. Malice revenge defeats the very object aimed at. That is to say it always injures the man who practices it more than the one against whom it is practiced. Augustin in his confessions page 26 says As if any enemy could be more hateful than the hatred with which he is incensed against him or could wound more deeply him whom he persecutes than he wounds his own soul by his enmity. The man who hates and strikes is the injured man. The man who thinks an impure thought is the one who has degraded his own soul dragged himself down into the mire. He is the greatest sufferer. It is like the firing of the blunderbuss it kicks back and knocks down the man who sets it off

But men were made for forgiveness for peace. The man who can forgive is the man of success and the man of power. Blessed, rewarded, elevated, exalted are the peacemakers for they shall be called sons of God

Christ lived to establish peace in this condition among men. He taught it by precept. Ye have heard that it was said an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth but I say unto you resist not him that is evil but whosoever smiteth thee on thy right cheek turn to him the other also. Ye have heard that it was said thou shalt love thy neighbor and hate thine enemy but I say unto you love your enemies that ye may be the sons of your Father which is in heaven. Christ taught it also by example. His whole life was a life of forgiving love culminating on the cross when he openly and deliberately forgave His enemies and also prayed to the Father that He too would forgive them. This has made Christ the Prince of Peace. It has made him not the smallest and the weakest man but the greatest and the mightiest man in all the world

Therefore in malice be babes that is to say do not have any. Do not be resentful but in minds show that you are men that you are beyond above malice. To be men in mind is to have soundness and maturity of judgment. It is as men say to be able to size up the situation. It is a mind enlightened by the Holy Spirit. It is a heart softened and refined by the love of God. Such a mind will see the exceeding sinfulness of sin the beauty and the power of truth the divinity and the glory of righteousness the sweetness and efficacy the fundamental and eternal nature of love. He will know the value of character of soul of truth. He will know the laws of influence. He will know the secrets of joy of wisdom and of power and he will possess these things. He will know God and man and how to bring them together in Christ

DR. BOYLE ON "COMPANIONSHIP OF BOOKS"

The congregation at the First Presbyterian church last evening filled the large auditorium to overflow—many not being able to obtain seats

The subject of the sermon was The Companionship of Books. Being forced to leave one aspect of the subject for next Sabbath evening—The Choice of a Novel—Dr Boyle dealt with the subject How to Know a Good Book and Master It

The sermon was in part as follows

The mind is a potter but it needs clay that purpose may fall into permanent shape. The mind is a painter but it calls for color that its ideals may declare themselves in things visible. The mind is a musician but it asks for an instrument upon which to express the majesty of its motif. The mind is a fountain which retains its power and purity as any fountain does by getting in from sources above it and giving out. And while much is learned by studious observation and diversified experience and intimate fellowship of mind with mind the finest acquisitions to human knowledge are made through books

We are living in an age of extensive reading. The question is not now as it was in the day when the single volume [illegible] was chained to a reading desk how can I get to the page of knowledge but what page of knowledge should I get. One page may be a little leaf from the exuding poison of a mind that [illegible] with the powers of darkness while another page may be a pure copy of thought as faultless as the thought of God

An intelligent reader coming to his opportunity for reading discriminates and so profits. He comes with the belief that a book is the true measure of intellectual appreciation in him who enjoys it that since character is dyed in thought the average quality of mind will be as high and no higher than the quality of the [illegible] or the medium of thought so that what he wants to dye into the texture of mind and ultimately into the texture of character he looks for in books

Should you ask me for a brief definition of a good book a question in return could be my answer—does it as a teacher sent from God say to the pursuits of mind and the affections of the heart and the ambitions of the life Come up higher? If so it is good in the truest sense

We must read with high purpose in order to profit. We sin against a book and insult its writer when conscious of its worth we do not read it with the purpose of mastering it. If it be true that our age is barren of great men intellectually it is because our age is barren of meditative men—men who read deeply and then [illegible] in the hot fires of thought what they read. We must read with trained appreciation in order to profit. It is only when to careful culture of mind we have added the proper appreciation of that which dignifies and deepens it that the book we study becomes a real blessing. The appreciative reader is heir to fifty centuries of the world's best thought. Nobler [illegible] lower us with the gift of good books. They rule us from their urns—the apologist casting in the moulds of his earnestness the creed of the centuries the philosopher sanctifying his lamp of reason by letting it shine for the world the poet catching music from inspiring voices which only genius can hear the scientist reading the story of the ages in rock and air or climbing secret ladders to the stars. A veritable cloud of witnesses they are and something tells us that we bear them kinship that we share their immortality because the love of the good and the great is as deathless as He Who planted it

We must read for moral or spiritual effects to profit

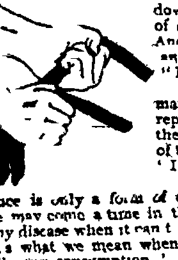
In the inventory of human capability as it names the name of eternity and seeks after the Infinite there is something greater than intellect and the capacity of the soul-nature asks for soul food. Through the perusal of good books I find the fiber of soul growing finer and the apprehension of divine things more positive and the strain of soul attraction less strong. Prophets of God are they who rebuke sin and then point to a Saviour—who inflame with [illegible] zeal and inspire to spiritual activity. They meet the demands of soul hunger because they lead directly to the soul book because they magnify it as the high priest of the thought of the present and the prophet of an endless future

A card was distributed at the close of the sermon bearing a list of Fifty Good Books. The supply of 100 copies ran out but more will be printed. A similar card bearing the titles of Fifty Best Novels will be distributed next Sabbath evening

The singing at present is especially fine Mrs Tucker being back and aided by Miss Thomas Mr Greenwood and Mr House

Rallying Day was observed in the Sabbath school. There were 4[illegible] present and the collection amounted to $54

"Pull up!" That's the counsel very often given by a well meaning person to a friend who is slipping down the road of alcoholism. And when the answer comes "I can't stop," the man is perhaps reproached for the cowardice of that phrase "I can't."



But intemperance is only a form of disease, and there may come a time in the progress of any disease when it can't be stopped. That's what we mean when we talk of "galloping consumption." It's like a horse running away with us. We can't stop it.

Strength will stop the wildest horse. Strength is the great necessity in the stopping of disease. Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has cured thousands who had obstinate cough, bronchitis, weak lungs, spitting of blood, emaciation, and similar ailments which if neglected or unskillfully treated lead to consumption. It cures by strengthening the lungs and giving them power to throw off disease.

I had been troubled with bronchitis and catarrh of the head for eight years. Had severe cough and at times great difficulty in breathing," writes I W Howerton Esq of Bigfall, Hancock Co Tenn. "A portion of the time my appetite was poor and part of the time I was unable to do anything. I had been treated by our best country physicians for several years but with little benefit. I had been reading about your medicine for several years but hadn't much faith in it. Last spring I concluded that I would try it and before I had taken one third of a bottle of Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets' I began to improve. I continued taking it until I had taken seven bottles. Now I feel like a new man and can do as hard a day's work as any man. I advise all of my friends who are diseased to take Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

ON THE IMPORTANCE OF CHILD TRAINING

Rev W G Templeton pastor of the First Cumberland Presbyterian church preached an interesting sermon yesterday morning. He took as his text Train up a child in the way he should go and when he gets old he will not depart therefrom. In the course of his sermon he said

Bring up a child in the Sunday school and he will be found in the Sunday school when he is old. The Sunday school is a part of the church. We must bring our children to Sunday school. The home is the bulwark of Christianity, but there is a work to be done in the Sunday school. I have never known a man or woman who could worship God acceptably at home without doing work in the church

There are critical periods in the lives of all young men and women when they become doubtful and skeptical but if they are trained early enough they will follow in the right way. Should a part of the child's life be given to the devil? Some say that children should reach a certain age before they are converted and become God's children. Shall I say to my children I will own you and allow you to call me father when you get to be 12 years of age? Are they my children only a part of the time? No they are mine always

Training is not simply telling. Some say I told my child to go to Sunday school. Is that enough? No it is your duty to see to it that your children go to Sunday school. All parents are responsible for their children. The habits which we form while we are children will remain with us for the rest of our lives. If we go to church for four consecutive Sundays we will be sure to go on the fifth Sunday. On the other hand if we do not go to church for four Sundays we will not go on the fifth Sunday

If we had more parents in the Sunday school we would have more children. People who have been brought up in the Sunday school are the best members. The verses of Scriptures which we learn in our childhood days are the ones which we keep in our minds when we grow old and they are the most helpful to us. I want to see my people train their children while it is time and then we will have better Sunday schools and better churches"

LESSONS FROM THE LIFE OF DAVID

At the Congregational church in Manitou last evening Rev F L Hayes gave the first of a series of sermons on the Life of David. The audience was a large one for this time of the year in Manitou and for an evening service. The music was attractive and the sermon being a strong and helpful one the service was thoroughly enjoyable. The Manitou Congregational church is one of the most hospitable churches in the vicinity of Colorado Springs and Colorado Springs people who attend there occasionally always return glad that they have made the trip.

Before beginning his sermon last evening Mr Hayes announced that the Wednesday evening meeting would be in the nature of a farewell to Mr and Mrs White who are missionaries intending to take up work in Japan within a few weeks and who have been spending a year in Manitou. The meeting Wednesday evening will be addressed by both Mr and Mrs White and will doubtless be largely attended

In speaking of David Mr Hayes began by referring to the many phases of his character from which lessons could be drawn. His text was 1st Samuel 16:7 the words For man looketh on the outward appearance but God looketh on the heart

In the first place said the speaker David was a king. If we were a class in history we would probably consider it worth while to study his life for the history that we could learn. But it is not as king especially that I wish to call your attention to his life. He was also a poet and even if his poetry did not come to us in connection with religion I presume we would consider it worth while to study his poetry because of the literary merit which they possess. But it is not as a poet especially that we are to study him in the series of sermons which I expect to draw from his life. David was a prophet. God gave him an insight into things that other men did not have and because of his prophetic character he is particularly good for us to study. A great many years ago about the time that Achilles was dragging the body of Hector around the walls of Troy about the time that the great Trojan horse was built by means of which the Greeks succeeded in taking the city which they had been storming for 10 years David was what was termed the sheik in a little village about five miles from Jerusalem some indications of which are still to be found according to the reports of persons who have traveled over that country and there is little doubt of it since that part of the world knows little change

But this was when David had become a man. In his boyhood he was a shepherd. While he attended his flocks he was alone. He lived a life of seclusion and it made him thoughtful and studious in ways that he might not have been in another environment. It is the same way today. There are more people whom God places in seclusion out of the ordinary course of their lives. There are probably some here in Manitou—who do not see the purpose in the necessity for them to refrain from their ordinary work but God has a purpose in it all and perhaps He is preparing you for a greater work than you have ever yet done. It was so with David. God had him lead a life of seclusion for a long time but it was in order to train him for the greater work which he was to do later in his life

David was an ambitious youth. When he was 12 or 14 years of age he began to show that he was capable of doing a great work and in the course of time it came about for him to do. It is the ambitious boy who always makes the successful man. I can see they grow to 12 or 14 or sometimes 15 years of age with little thought for the serious things of life and it need be a matter of no particular worry but if he gets to be 16 years old or 17 and is content to loaf all day if he does not care about anything but play and shows no inclination to do anything but to have fun then I begin to think that there is something wrong with him. David was an example of the ambitious boy who will succeed and there are examples of him all about us today

But there is one thing in particular that I wish to impress upon you tonight. This series of sermons will deal with four great lessons. The first will be brought out tonight and the two others left for the future. The first is that Man looketh on the outward appearance but God looketh on the heart. God looketh upon the heart. I remember a little simple story that I heard once that illustrates this point. There were three old monks who lived all by themselves and had little to do with the affairs of the world about them. They were fond of singing. They were not good singers their voices being old and broken but they loved to sing and did so frequently. One night they heard a young man singing and were completely charmed by the sweetness of his song. They did not sing that night but listened to the young man and were greatly impressed. That night one of the monks was visited in a dream by an angel and the angel asked why he had not been singing that night. Did you not hear the young man? said the monk. He sang so sweetly. We did not sing tonight because the young man sang and we were listening to him. No said the angel I heard no song tonight. The young man's song did not reach us. And so it is. God looketh on the heart

"The life of David teaches us that there are three essentials to success—that is to real success in life. A man must have ability intellectuality and religious character. Oliver Cromwell is an example of a man who had a great power of bringing things about. He could control men and events in a wonderful manner. He had ability and he had intellectuality but it was to his religious convictions that he owed his successes. George Washington was a man who had ability. His power to handle the great problems which presented themselves to him being due to his training in the French and Indian war and he had intellectuality in a very high degree but it is a well known fact that his religious character was responsible for his courage and ability to hold out through that terrible winter at Valley Forge and on this hinged to a considerable extent the whole trend of events in that trying time. Abraham Lincoln is another example. To his wonderful faith in God was due his courage to act single-handed and alone in critical times and was due the outcome of the conditions of his time

"All of us can exercise our powers and can build up a religious character. We will have to begin somewhere and we cannot hope to be better able to begin later than we are now. John B Gough, the great temperance orator is an example. Just as I am was his plea and it must be the plea of all. God looketh upon the heart!

The closing hymn was Just as I am Without One Plea, after which the benediction closed the service

THE SATISFACTION OF A MINISTER'S LIFE

At the First Congregational church yesterday morning Dr Gregg spoke on The Satisfaction in a Minister's Life. The day marked the completion of 26 years of work in the Christian ministry for the pastor and the subject was one upon which he said he had been intending for several years to speak

There is no more interesting study in the world said Dr Gregg than the study of people and the more remote the field of activity in others is from that of ourselves, the more interesting the study becomes.

In discussing the subject the speaker laid down the proposition that there is satisfaction in a minister's life physically intellectually socially religiously and generally

Physical satisfaction lies in the fact that a minister's life can be generally regular and methodical and is not characterized by the constant strain that must be endured in other lines of activity. He stated that statistics of the Congregational church showed that in a number of years 2,700 ministers had died their average age being 63 years whereas the average longevity of man is but 35 years. "Insurance companies [illegible] said [illegible] anxious to insure preachers

Intellectually a minister's life [illegible] satisfaction because he must reach out into every department of learning that is known to man. He helps the college boy with his debate [illegible] Victor Hugo for a woman's club or writes an essay on Balzac for some publisher. He gives his judgement on matters of moment to the church generally. He must know what was going on in Babylon in the days of Nebuchadnezzar and what is going on in China today

Socially he must have a wide acquaintance among people of all classes. He must meet parishioners socially at intervals and do all in his power to make life pleasant for all whom he knows

He can enjoy a wider acquaintance than most men and [illegible] he loves his fellow beings not so much for what they are as for what they are capable of becoming

But it is in his work as a minister to the people that his greatest work and greatest satisfaction lie. He must [illegible] hardships himself but these he reckoned on when he took up the calling. He must sympathize with others in hardship and trouble. He must be able to point to the right way and to rebuke sin. He must dispel the doubts of doubters and direct them to the source of peace. His work is greater than that of the doctor because the latter has little to do outside the [illegible] of his patients. He has a work greater than that of the lawyer for the latter has little to do outside the circle of his clients. The work of the journalist is broader far than that of either of the others but vastly inferior to that of the preacher because the latter deals with the people more directly and [illegible] in touch with their more [illegible] at all times

One of the great things that makes the life of the minister a satisfactory [illegible] however is that anyone can enter it. It is open to all. Perhaps not in the pulpit or on the platform but still [illegible] Everyone can do good and minister to the comfort of his fellows. Everyone can be a true minister

WITH THE LODGES

The Elks will hold the center of the stage in lodge matters this week with their big reception to George Boniface Jr, The Man From Mexico this evening. Boniface became an Elk in this city at the time of his last visit here and holds his membership in this lodge. In view of this fact the local Elks intend to honor him particularly and with him his company

At the opera house this evening 100 Elks in evening dress will occupy seats in the front of the house as a mark of courtesy to the popular actor and his company. After the play is over the company will repair upstairs to the Elk club rooms where they will be entertained by the lodge. Dr Tom Hazlitt has charge of the programme upstairs and Mr S N Nye will have the refreshment end of the evening in hand. A very elaborate programme has been prepared and the event will probably go down in history as one of the most successful social sessions ever held by this lodge—and that means much

At the [illegible] meeting [illegible] last [illegible] were several initiations and there [illegible] a number more to occur this week

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD

On Tuesday night Pikes Peak camp No [illegible] held an open session which was largely attended. The occasion was the visit of Hon C W Wheeler of California who delivered a very interesting lecture before the camp and its friends. Several applications were received last week. No initiations took place

K. OF P.

Myrtle lodge has been in [illegible] the [illegible] of the new lodge of Knights of Pythias which is being organized in this city. Myrtle lodge is appointing [illegible] teams for each degree and the institution which occurs in K P hall on October 11 will be a very elaborate affair. Grand Chancellor Robinson of Denver will be in town and it is expected that one or two other grand officers will be here. All the Knights of Colorado City and Manitou will be present and assist in starting the new lodge

I. O. O. F.

Pikes Peak lodge No 38 conferred the first degree on several candidates last Thursday night and will confer the second degree this week

Phoenix encampment meets on Tuesday night and confers the Royal Purple degree on five candidates

JR. O. U. A. M.

Vice Chancellor George S Henderson is improving. He is now at his home and it is expected that he will be able to be about before long

Brother F B Taylor of the honorary list is still on the sick list and does not appear to improve very rapidly

There was a good attendance at the meeting last week. One application was acted upon

REDMEN

Thursday night's meeting of Cheyenne tribe No 41 while not largely attended was an interesting one. One paleface braved the terrors of the gauntlet and was adopted in the tribe and one warrior was exalted to the chief's degree. Two applications were received

Great Sachem Marion Cook is making a tour of the state visiting the tribes and councils and Cheyenne tribe is preparing to give him a royal reception when he visits this city

Weetamoo council No 2 D of P held its meeting Monday night. There was no degree work but after the business of the council had been transacted the balance of the evening was devoted to social features

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

Delegates to the state Christian Endeavor convention at Denver Oct 4-7 must keep the following in mind if they are to take advantage of the special railroad rates. Buy a single fare ticket to Denver and secure a receipt from the selling agent. Upon presentation of said receipt in Denver to the joint agent accompanied by the fifth fare it will be honored for the return trip. This will make the round trip to Denver and return [illegible] dollars and fifty cents

The Christian Endeavor societies of Colorado Springs remembered the state C E convention in special prayer last night

At the meeting of the executive board of the City C E Union it was decided to leave the question of an echo rally after the state convention in the hands of a committee. The vice president of the union Miss Lillian Banschbach was made chairman of the committee

At the meeting of the executive board Mr Chapman who for four or five years has been superintendent of the Huerfano Street Union C E Mission Sunday school resigned. His reason for taking this step was that his duties at the state institution demanded his presence frequently at the same hour of the Sunday school. A committee was appointed to select a candidate for the position

Cripple Creek is planning to send a large delegation to the state convention but the question with the Colorado Springs Endeavorers is what city is to have the honor of sending the largest delegation

One delegation to the convention will leave over the Colorado Southern or Santa Fe on Thursday next at 4 10 p m

Rallies and Conventions

Iowa and New Hampshire gathered in state convention last week Sept. 25-27

The Providence R I union is to make Christian Citizenship the theme of its October rally, with Dr Josiah Strong as speaker

Among the speakers at the Bay State convention are Rev C M Sheldon J R Mott C N Howard Dr G S Hall President Clark Secretary Baer Treasurer Shaw and Professor Wells

Why do so many persons wear glasses? This is a question asked us every day It is not because people s eyes are so much more defective than they used to be but it is chiefly due to the fact that optics has developed in an exact science opticians can successfully fit eye defects that formerly had to go uncorrected through lack of knowledge upon the subject We are well supplied with this knowledge

Where Did That Headache Go?

If there was no cure for that headache there would be some reason for tolerating it But there is a cure

It is safe swift sure It goes right to the throbbing tearing pain and soothes it and quiets it until in a few minutes you can straighten up and say Where did that headache go? Never mind It is gone It will not trouble you again soon

And then the medicine is so easy to take—no bad smell no big capsule to swallow It is just a little tasteless wafer and after it is moistened it slips down your throat as easy as an oyster

People who don t enjoy having headaches ought to keep a box in the house all the time The name? Instant Headache Cure We sell it
